Session Two

Brian Butterfield is the co-owner and master electrician of Green Ridge Solar, Oregon's fifth fastest growing solar and electrical contractor. Green Ridge prides itself in customer service and high-quality solar products that are proven for Oregon's unique climate.

After graduating from the University of Oregon, Brian earned his journeyman electrical license and later became a master electrician. He spent a short time working in his father's company before his entrepreneurial ambitions took over. Forging his own path through a series of failures and successes in construction and development, Brian has climbed from the brink of bankruptcy to running a $20 million company. He has accrued a wealth of stories through this rewarding journey and looks forward to sharing them.
